

Why Choose History?

History gives you the opportunity to expand your horizons, allowing you to understand the values, attitudes and motives of other people, whether of different nationalities, racial groups or religions. The study of History also helps you to understand who you are and how you came to be. The course will be instrumental in developing important skills such as researching and questioning historical sources, forming objective argument and using evidence to draw and develop empathy and understanding of the actions and achievements of others.

Choose History as an option and you will also have the chance to develop your critical thinking skills and historical judgement in a subject which links well with other courses such as Politics, English Literature and Law.
